DSpace

DSpace – Training Materials

There are a variety of training materials and resources that have been developed by the DSpace user community. Many of these can be used as self-guided tutorials or adapted and used as the basis to lead training sessions.

The DSpace Course

This course is suitable for DSpace administrators or developers and includes 20 different modules on various topics. Each module comes with a set of PowerPoint slides and an associated student workbook. The course was created by Stuart Lewis (DSpace committer, developer and trainer), Chris Yates (DSpace developer, support provider and trainer) for the Repositories Support Project and has benefited from input by Claudia Jurgen (DSpace committer, developer and trainer).

DSpace Resources Wiki Page

This page identifies many useful DSpace resources developed by the community and provides an index and links to repository planning references, "how to" guides, community mailing lists and other informative materials.

Community Presentations

There are regular conference / user group meeting presentations delivered by DSpace community members. Presentations content includes summaries about specific DSpace implementations, on-going projects as well as tutorials.

DuraSpace Professional Development

DuraSpace produces regular webinar series on topics of interest to the DSpace user community. Recordings from previous sessions are available.
